

BLR Director Graced the ILO Online Training

To further improve the capacity of labor towards better implementation and application of the right to Freedom of Association, Director Maria Consuelo Bacay graced the International Labour Organization training on “Integrating International Labour Standards and Responsible Business in Organizations Towards Establishing Business Continuity: An Online Training” on 12 October 2021 via Zoom. It was a Customer Service Representative (CSR) training of Human Relations Officers of West Cebu Industrial Park.

In undertaking this initiative, the ILO collaborated with the Asian Institute of Management (AIM) – Ramon V. Del Rosario Sr. (RVR) Center for Corporate Responsibility.

Director Bacay had a 30-minute fruitful interaction with the locators of economic zones during the Question and Answer portion. The discussion focused on the concerns of the participants on the right to freedom of association. Hence, she was able to enlighten the participants on their concerns about the subject.

With this, the Bureau Director was able to promote sustainable and inclusive growth by fostering a better understanding of the concept of freedom of association to the participants of the training.
